

CARDS READY FOR NIGHT GAME WITH SIOUX CITY TEAM

Morningside Strong,
But Omahans Hope
To Repeat Victory
SUPPORT TEAM

After a week of correcting mistakes made in the North Dakota State game last Friday, and long hours of polishing up the offensive attack, the Cards are all set to meet one of their greatest rivals, Morningside college, on the municipal field at Sioux City tomorrow night.

Morningside Strong

Morningside appears very strong this year with 14 lettermen returning, practically the same team Omaha whipped last season. Coach J. M. Saunderson has a squad of 30 men and claims that each is equal to a first string position. Among some of his standouts are Leo Graves, Russ Hughes, Whitey Rosenberger, and Nick Karroll as backs, and Buckingham, Snyder, and Engebretson as linemen.

Victors Last Year

Omaha played her first game with Morningside last year, defeating the Maroons 14 to 0, with Leo Pearey carrying most of the mail for scoring points. With Pearey missing this year, Hartman is placing his hopes of victory on Boldenow, Brown, and Tyler, three fine backs who will give the Maroons plenty to worry about. A personal rivalry between the two schools is expected to make the game scrappy.

Student Council Election To Be Held Wednesday

At a meeting held Wednesday, the student council decided to hold an election next Wednesday to fill vacancies in its ranks and in the Board of Publications and to select class officers.

Four vacancies in the council include one senior woman, two senior men, and one sophomore man. One man is to be selected for the Board of Publications.

Class officers to be elected are a president, a vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer of each class. Petitions of candidates are due in Miss Ruth Diamond's office by noon Tuesday.

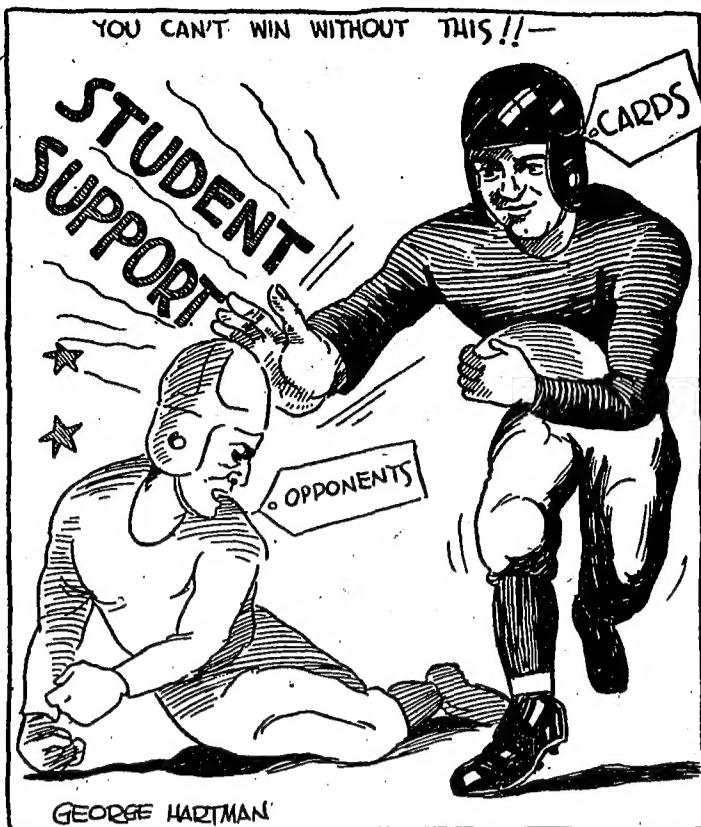

Dr. West To Talk To Iowa Teachers

Dr. V. Royce West, head of the department of foreign languages, who has recently returned from Germany where he taught at Heidelberg, is scheduled to speak at the social science section of the South Central Iowa Teachers' convention, September 26, at Creston, Iowa. His topic will be "I Taught Under Hitler."

Dr. West will also discuss "Educational Trends in Europe with Emphasis on Germany" at the Phi Delta Kappa meeting, to be held at the Elks' club, September 30.

TEACHES DRAMATICS

Sylvan Frankel, class of '38, was dramatics director at a camp near Macedonia, Ohio, during the summer.

Cardinal Rooters To Morningside

A bus, full of enthusiastic Red and Black rooters, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Sioux City, scene of the first night battle between Morningside and Omaha U. This second annual trip is being sponsored jointly by the student council, the Pan-Hellenic council, and the Feathers, girls' pep group.

Announce Board Of Publications

Dr. S. L. Witman, associate professor of government, has been appointed to the board of publication to replace Dr. W. D. Maclay, who is on leave of absence.

The other members of the board are: Dr. V. Royce West, chairman, and Dr. A. D. Wallace.

According to Dr. West, the addition of a student member to the board of publications will be made soon, as John Pearson, who was elected last semester, has not reregistered this term.

Dr. Frank Smith Speaks At First School Assembly

Dr. Frank Smith, pastor of the First Central Congregational Church, spoke at the first all-school convocation of the University of Omaha, Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. The subject of Dr. Smith's address was "The Only Adequate Answer to a Starving Multitude." Ida Gitlin, sophomore at the University and winner of the women's singing division of the Midwest Music Festival, sang at the assembly, accompanied by Betty Fellman.

TO GIVE ART EXHIBIT

Dr. Berthe Koch, head of the painting, sculpture, and architecture department, announces a "Living American Art" exhibit at the University, starting October 19 and continuing for at least two weeks. This exhibit will be the first of a series of four, in which works of only living American artists will be shown.

80 Non-Omahans Registered; 43 Reside in Iowa

Of the more than 500 students who have registered at the University of Omaha this semester, 80 are non-residents.

Council Bluffs claims 29 of the 43 Iowa representatives. Other Iowa towns represented are Malvern, Avoca, Estherville, Coon Rapids, Red Oak, Walnut, Fort Dodge, and Harlan.

Thirty-four students have entered the University from the following Nebraska towns: Lincoln, Columbus, Brownville, Elsie, Salem, Abie, Niobrara, Crawford, Bridgeport, Albion, Auburn, Fairbury, Norfolk, Seward, Shelton, Stapleton, York and Wolbach.

Also included in the non-resident list are 12 collegians who live within a short distance of Omaha and commute daily by auto or street car. Joan Wirts, of Denver, Colorado, is the University's most "foreign" non-resident.

Students who are now legal residents, but formerly were from out-state, are Donald Bean, California; Earl Cairns, Canada; Mae Harding, New York; and Roger Hatton, Ohio.

Need For Graduates As Teachers Greater

Members of the University of Omaha "1936" graduating class have been in demand for teaching positions, according to a report from Director E. M. Hosman of the Teacher's Placement Bureau. In fact, Mr. Hosman states that he has received many more calls than he can fill. Among those accepting positions are:

Dorothy Anderson, Central H. S., Omaha; Hortense Geisler, Norfolk; Mary Birkett, Red Cloud; Ruth Greenayre, Ft. Calhoun; Bernice Ecklund, Decatur; Alice Erickson, Paxton; Janet Graetz, Underwood School, Douglas County; Allene McMahon, Louisville; Maxine Mathews, Casey, Iowa; May Charlotte McGonigle, Cooper, Iowa; Minnette Meyers, Shelton.

Lawrence Hall, Glenwood, Iowa; Gordon Quiller, Leigh, Nebraska; Mary Alice Simpson, Shelton; Kenneth Turner, Waterloo; Russell Widoe, Pana, Illinois; Elaine Coulter, Millard; Josephine Carroll, Wahoo; Leo Pearey, Freshman Coach, University of Omaha.

HELMSTADTER Gets Ph. D. Degree FROM IOWA

Receiving his doctor of philosophy degree this summer from the University of Iowa at Iowa City, Dr. C. W. Helmstadter, registrar, has increased to 17 the number of faculty members holding doctorates.

Miss Elizabeth Kaho, instructor in music, and Mr. J. W. Kurtz, engineering instructor, received their master's degrees during vacation, Miss Kaho from Columbia university, and Mr. Kurtz from the University of Iowa.

Dr. Helmstadter wrote his thesis on the subject: "A Comparison of Several Types of Executives With Regard to Their Peculiar Interests in Various Activities." His dissertation was based on the results of the Strong vocational interest blank, which was filled out by 200 executives engaged in eight different types of activity. Dr. Helmstadter majored in commerce and minored in economics.

Using a moving picture of the entire process of testing his theories, Mr. Kurtz presented his subject: "An Investigation of the Relative Efficiency of Various Filters Used in Domestic Air Conditioning." Mr. Kurtz, who minored in education, became a member of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary education fraternity, this summer.

Miss Kaho attained membership in Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music fraternity, while working for her master's degree.

Drs. Harris, West Travel in Europe; Discuss Climate, Politics, Recovery

"England Showing Signs of Economic Recovery," Dr. Harris Says; Sees Paris

Dr. Lyman Harris and his wife, the former Ethel Jane Scanlon, journeyed to Canada and Europe on their honeymoon this summer. They first motored to Montreal and on to Quebec, from where they embarked for England.

While in London, Dr. Harris worked in the Public Record Office, the office in which government documents are deposited. He also worked in the British Museum.

In England, Dr. and Mrs. Harris took a 1,500 mile chartered bus trip through England and Scotland, seeing many points of interest.

After viewing economic conditions in England, Dr. Harris says: "England seems to be recovering rather well from the depression. A great many houses and buildings are under construction. Finished houses and those in the process of construction may be seen everywhere one goes. These are certainly indications of recovery."

Remarking upon the hot summer days in Omaha, Dr. Harris told of the cool and damp summer in England. In July it rained twenty-seven days, making it impossible to wear anything but spring and fall clothes.

From London, the Harrises flew to Paris, in which place they spent eight days. Leaving Paris, they sailed to Quebec and drove from there to Omaha.

Language Head Hears Talks By Hitler, Mussolini, Acts As News Correspondent

Photographing Mussolini and Blum, acting as correspondent for American newspapers, and inspecting numerous European universities, were among the experiences which Dr. V. Royce West, head of the department of foreign languages, enjoyed while serving as visiting lecturer at Heidelberg university the past year.

Dr. West, who heard Mussolini speak on the anniversary day of the founding of the Italian Fascists, also heard Hitler several times at the Nazi party congress, which he and Mrs. West attended a year ago and which has just met again at Nurnberg.

Corresponding for the Associated Press, the Springfield, Mass., Republican, and the London Times was very enjoyable, according to Dr. West, even when he received telegrams at 3 a. m. asking him to call Berlin.

He visited such famous universities as those of Copenhagen, Oxford, Berlin, Munich, Leipzig, Pisa, Genoa, Bologna, Freiburg, and Zurich, lecturing at the latter two. The modern campus of the University of Rome impressed both Dr. and Mrs. West.

"Students at Rome are more like American collegians than any other in Europe, particularly the co-eds," he stated.

While in Germany, Dr. West paid a ten per cent income tax on his salary before he had even

Raising Blood Pressure

Student support—You can't win without it! Were this to be declared by a professor in the appropriate atmosphere of a lecture hall, it might bear considerable weight. It is obvious that courses in foreign languages, debate, music, or what you please, would be a failure without that support.

Picture a professor lecturing to an empty classroom, a debate without judges, a concert minus the audience and you can see the logical outcome of any student activity without students backing it.

But if we apply the same argument to football, there is a blast of "Bosh! Football is different; they get out there, hit the line and smash their way to the goal posts. The man who plays for the galleries is either crazy or off somewhere above the neck. Spectators are not needed for football." On the contrary, the school whose students cheer the loudest and raise the blood pressure a bit in the veins of its players has a better chance to win the day.

Moral: Morningside has the jump on us because it's there and we're here. Let's show them that distance makes no difference and get more rooters on the field than they.

In The Spotlight

Whenever an unknown individual rises to fame or fortune, everyone is eager to partake of a share of the responsibility for his success.

Glen Morris reaches the heights in the Olympics decathlon competition and Denver immediately fetes him as a native, apparently trying to snatch the limelight from her neighbor city, Fort Collins.

Council Bluffs and Omaha both claim Walter Cassel when he returns to the home town (and just which one is it?) to sing at the Midwest Music Festival.

And now Omaha U. has occasion to call its own those who have attended this institution and who have since departed to make their mark in the world. We refer to such former students as Clara Schultz, who matriculated here and who now holds the important position of director of recreation at the St. Christopher School for Dependent Children, Dobbs Ferry, New York.

Yes, even Omaha University likes to share in the spotlight!

Plus or Minus?

X marks the spot! But will the "spot" be on the debit or credit side of the Cardinals' ledger after the game with Morningside tomorrow night is over?

Needless to say, all Omaha U. students are hoping that the aforementioned "X" may be entered in the asset column; that the Red and Black will add to its total of victories rather than to its defeats.

Omaha gives promise of a fine football team this year; and when the books are balanced at the close of the season, may the Redbirds not be "in the red!"

Thru the Keyhole

Rushing is over!...What a relief...Everyone seems to be happy with the exception of a few Sig Chi's who almost came to blows over a rushee....But then they all had their troubles this year....By glancing at the preference cards it looks like the Sig Chi's and Theta's did all right by themselves....but the Pi O's say they wanted quality not quantity.

Corrington, Willis, and Archer are at least trying to convince everyone they are unhappy because the better halves are far away (not one cent was collected for that advertisement)....Corrington doesn't seem to be doing badly around the campus, though, for one who's heart is far away.

Molan Miller and Glendora Hammond haven't been wasting any time in going into the Romeo and Juliet act, and in public places, too....(wonder what Ellen Hartman thinks about it)....Tsk! tsk!

John Kozak, the handsome Russian, is back in school after starting on the work-study plan....but it seems that Ellen Corzipe had a little work-study plan of her own, and he's back in school....(Doing some planning, John?)

Amy Rohacek doesn't seem to be so down-hearted now that Lewis Ruthben Leigh is in Lincoln....We wonder if it's because he promised to write often....But then, an occasional letter from Iowa might help.

THE POEM OF THE WEEK:

Mary had a little pen;
She cernly made it write—
But every word that Mary wrote
Was lousy—ungood—trite!

Speaking of romances in general, it seems that Bill Foshier is very much burned up because a certain little brunette has a date with a certain Theta for a certain Pan-Hel dance next Friday evening....Can't mention names, though, but we'd certainly like to.

Lil Anderson is seeking new conquests this year....This time it is the handsome lad from Fort Dodge, Iowa....What?...You gals haven't heard his name?...Well, it's Rex Perkins....For more information, telephone or telegraph Lil Anderson.

Ruth Virginia Thompson's little heart took a couple of extra hops the other day when someone informed her that Ray Keaton was seen in Fargo, North Dakota, at the football game last week....Love is a wonderful thing....Is there still a possible chance that he might be able to be here for Homecoming and the Pan-Hel dance, Ruth?

Alice May Furness is screaming like an eagle about the dig she received last week....By the way, we wonder if it's true about the Pi O pledge and girdle business....Belau, we are all wondering who you had a date with at the Music Box opening last Wednesday?

It's obvious that this, my first non-decorumy entrance through The Gateway, has me stymied already....onaccounta' I'm a stranger in town, so now for a scammez-vous with a brief warning of what may follow later.

Oh Woman!

The reflections of a great man about that creature called "WOMAN" are as a rule very interesting and, when printable, well worth reading.

When one first looks carefully at marriage and "WOMAN," he is reminded that, before marriage, she is the agente provocateuse; after marriage, a gendarme. It used to be thought in America that a "WOMAN" ceased to be a lady the moment her name appeared in a newspaper. It is no longer thought so, but it is still true.

"WOMAN" is at once the serpent, the apple, and the bellyache and most men usually have the cramps. This leads one to believe that bachelors have consciences and married men have wives. Bachelors really know more about women than married men. If they didn't they'd be married, too.

History seems to bear very harshly upon "WOMEN." One cannot recall more than three famous women who were virtuous. But, on turning to men, the seeming injustice disappears. One would have difficulty in finding even two of them who were virtuous.

The worst about marriage is that it makes a "WOMAN" believe that all men are just as easy to fool. A man may be a fool and not know it—but not if he's married. It has often been said that a bachelor is one who wants a wife, but is glad he hasn't got her.

As a last word of advice, men should remember that a husband is merely a number 16 neck in a 15½ collar.

Tietsort to Teach Course on Crime

A new course in criminology, to be taught by Ralph Tietsort, has been added to the Extension division. The class will be held Thursday evenings from seven to nine at Bloomer School in Council Bluffs. Registration will be held open until October 1. Mr. Tietsort took his graduate work at the University of Chicago.

IT'S IN THE CARDS

By GEORGE THREADGILL

In order to get in shape for football this fall, the members of the football team were engaged in a variety of jobs during summer vacation. The boys did everything from farming to paper-hanging, and most of them returned to school tanned and healthy.

When Frank Crawford wasn't working in a garage, he served as a caddy at the Country Club. Gerald Gardner worked at the Agromony farm in Lincoln. But in California, Dutch Hessler sweated off fifteen pounds throwing crates of fruit around all day. George Threadgill guarded the swimmers at Peony Park during those hot months. Melvin Bolde now was a playground supervisor in Bloomfield, Nebr., but late this summer his arm became infected; this kept him out of the first game.

At the Grain Exchange, Ed Kersenbrock, Bill Kulper, Frank La Mantia, Loren Gammon and Royce Brown worked punching box-cars of wheat. Carroll Slump went back to his farm in Red Oak, Ia.

Russel Riggins and Gail Leber were employed by a construction company, working on the Missouri river.

Robert Frink did a little farm work around his home town of Malvern, Ia., and Harold Johnk farmed in Hancock, Ia. Tippy Tyler worked for a fruit company here in Omaha and a tarantula left a mean scar on his shoulder. Bob Flesher helped his father in the contracting business. Norman Sorenson and Bill Middlekauf farmed in Omaha and Wahoo.

Morningside—this name has been arousing a personal rivalry among the Cards during the past week, which began last winter during the basketball season when the boys from Sioux City beefed and hollered about the way Omaha played basketball. It was just a little too rough for the Iowa boys, and their feeling toward us has stimulated a revengeful spirit in the grid camp. If you attend the game tomorrow, you can expect a scrappy battle from both teams.

Nothing would please Johnny Baker any better than a victory over the Sioux City boys. Baker has been giving his linemen very special attention and expressing his strong desire for a win. The

Football Schedule

The 1936 football schedule includes four home games and three games in other states. The student trip to Sioux City will be on Saturday, September 26, when the Cards play Morningside. This will be a night game. Homecoming will be on Friday, October 2, when Omaha plays Wayne Normal. Following is the 1936 schedule:

Friday, September 18—North Dakota State at Fargo.
Saturday, September 26—Morningside at Sioux City.
Friday, October 2—Wayne at Omaha.
Friday, October 9—Open.
Friday October 16—South Dakota State at Omaha.
Saturday, October 24—DePaul at Chicago.
Friday, October 31—Open.
Saturday, November 7—South Dakota University at Omaha.
Saturday, November 14—Open.
Friday November 20—Iowa Teachers at Omaha.

Elect Claudius Phi Sig V.-Pres.

At the home of Milton Sklenika, Monday, September 21, Gerald Claudius was elected Vice-president of Phi Sigma Phi fraternity. Fred Hintz, former vice-president, has left school to work.

Five Years Ago

1. A decision handed down by the Supreme court of Nebraska made the former Omaha university a municipal institution.
2. Nebraska university's former dean, the late Dr. W. E. Sealock, was unanimously elected president of the new Municipal university.
3. Sponsored by The Gateway, the third annual popularity contest was held.

Cards have sworn not only to win for the school, but also for Johnny Baker.

Omaha U. is playing about the toughest schedule in the history of the school. Coach Hartman signed for only seven games, but every one will be plenty stiff. The DePaul game at Chicago, Saturday, October 24, appears to be the biggest stepping stone for the Cards.

By the way, Omaha did not do so badly in national ratings for last year in receiving a ranking of 162. These ratings are made by comparing the records of practically all universities and colleges in the United States. Creighton, our neighbor university, received a ranking of 187. Compare the two ratings, and you can see we feel quite proud of the record our team made last season.

The Cards suffered quite a blow when Leo Pearey graduated last June, as his famous passes and line plunges can no longer help us in winning football games. Pearey is not altogether out of the Cardinal gridiron picture, however; he was appointed to coach the frosh with Warren Howard this year, and he has shown splendid progress. The frosh have a heavy outfit this fall and have been giving the varsity plenty of trouble each night. Pearey is showing these lads the secret of his success. If the frosh learn all that Pearey knows, we can expect some excellent varsity material next fall.

Girls' Sports

W. A. A. members will play soccer every Monday and Wednesday at 4:00, with Miss Maurine Kelly, new sports assistant, in charge. Practice will be held the first week preceding the selection of teams. A championship game will be held at the end of the season in connection with the annual soccer feed. All girls interested are asked to report at Miss Diamond's office at this hour.

W. A. A. is planning a hike to Carter Lake today. All girls interested are to meet at Jacobs' Hall at 4:30 and to bring their own lunch.

A "Political Prom" dance is being planned by W. A. A. to be given at Jacobs' Hall, October 16. Decorations will follow the political scheme. The committee in charge is Amy Rohacek, Helen Saltares, Anne Raymond and Harriet Salmon. The orchestra will be announced at a later date.

One hundred and fifty guests were entertained at a tea given by W. A. A. at the women's faculty building Wednesday. Freshmen girls were introduced to Miss Ruth Diamond and Miss Maurine Kelly of the physical education department.

Mrs. Rene E. H. Stevens and Mrs. Mildred Gearhart poured. The committee in charge were the officers of W. A. A., Phyllis Knudsen, Helen Saltares, Eloise Johnson and Dolly Obradovich. Plans for the coming year were discussed with the prospective members.

W. A. A. officers for the coming year are Phyllis Knudsen, '38, president; Helen Saltares, '38, vice-president; Dolly Obradovich, '37, treasurer; and Eloise Johnson, '38, secretary.

Board members include Ellen Forehead, archery; Anne Raymond, basketball; Clara Williamson, soccer; Lillian Damask, volleyball; Helen Mickna, hiking; Amy Rohacek, social chairman; Betty Arnold, badminton, shuffleboard and ping-pong; Jane Cook, Orchestra; and Marianne Harrington, tennis and golf.

Clara Schultz, former Omaha University student and now director of recreation at the St. Christopher School for Dependent Children, Dobbs Ferry, near New York City, returned to Omaha on a vacation.

Student Directory To Be Out Soon

Eddie Howe, editor of the Student School Directory, announces that the publication will be circulated throughout the university by the second week of October. The book will contain addresses, telephone numbers, and year of graduation of all the day and extension students. Additional information of the members of the various sororities, fraternities and clubs will also be given.

Cardinals Lose First Grid Game

Omaha Team Makes Good Showing, But Bisons Win With Score of 18 to 13

Omaha U's Cardinals inaugurated their 1936 grid season by losing to last year's North Central champions, North Dakota State, with a score of 18-13, on the Fargo field.

The Cards started the game in fighting spirits after a rousing pep talk from Coach Hartman. During the first quarter they clicked both on the offense and defense, first by making big gains through the line and at one time holding the Bison to four downs on the four-yard line.

The Bisons scored first with a touchdown in the second quarter. Brown blocked their try for point. During the same period Tyler returned a punt, making a beautiful run for about 50 yards along the sideline. The Cards were but five yards from the goal when they were penalized fifteen yards for holding. However, a few minutes later Omaha opened a passing attack with Tyler and Kersenbrock snagging them and placing the ball in a position for Tyler to score through the center on the line. Brown's place kick was good, and Omaha led 7 to 6 at the half time.

In the second half the Bisons scored twice more, first by walking through a weak spot in the line, and then by making use of a break when the Cards fumbled on their own ten-yard line. The Bisons recovered and shot around end for six more tallies.

With two minutes remaining until the final whistle Royce Brown opened up with an aerial attack. Brown shot a 45-yard pass to Willie Kulper, who caught it on a dead run and almost got away. On the next play, Kersenbrock caught a pass one-handed over the goal line to score. Brown's kick was blocked as the whistle blew ending the game.

May, Wheller, Erickson and Miller stood out for North Dakota, while Brown, Kersenbrock, Johnk, Tyler, Riggins and Crawford looked best for the Cards.

For hundreds of years the Persians have known the secret of fine flavor. In the dead of night a Persian "melon-diviner" may wake up his wealthy master to enjoy the perfect melon—picked by lamplight at its exact moment of full maturity.

The Secret of Fine Flavor..

Like the Persian melon, the Turkish tobaccos used in Chesterfield are watched day and night.

There is just one right time to take off the leaves...that's when they have ripened to their fullest flavor.

Often the tender ripe leaves are gathered just before the dawn...to preserve the full "spice" and aroma for Chesterfield.

From our own Southland we take mild, ripe tobaccos chock-full of Southern sunshine; then we go 4000 miles to the fertile shores of the Mediterranean for the fine flavor and aroma of Turkish tobaccos. These tobaccos give Chesterfields their milder better taste.
